

RED WELLIES is a charity dedicated to raising funds for the continuing research of Glioblastoma Multiforme (GBM).

Lisa Wiles, 43 from Blackborough End died on October 13th 2011, after a brave fight which lasted more than a year and involved an operation to remove as much as possible of an aggressive tumour in the frontal lobe of her brain. Her family and friends want to continue the good work she started in raising money for a Cambridge University fund tackling GBM, the type of cancer she suffered from and to keep her memory alive by setting up THE LISA WILES RED WELLIES BRAIN TUMOUR SUPPORT FUND.

Lisa never gave up her fight Please help us to carry it on!
